METHODOLOGY

A highly practical methodology: 35 of the 60 ECTS (58%) are practical credits. It combines theory and practical classes, seminars and tutorials with hands-on preclinical training on typodonts and models, virtual setup software, Digital Smile Design (DSD) and diode lasers.

Advanced theory sessions are complemented by short videos with clinical demonstrations (interceptive and functional appliances and digital systems) and moderated clinical discussion forums.

On the Virtual Classroom Campus, the digital treatment plans designed by students are corrected individually, with access to indexed international biomedical databases.

60 ECTS over 9–12 months, on campus (Madrid) or online, with supervised clinical placements at partner dental clinics. Two intakes a year: October–November and February–March. Admission by Committee.

MASTER'S IN COMPREHENSIVE ORTHODONTICS, AESTHETIC RESTORATION AND NEW TECHNOLOGIES

An advanced, interdisciplinary programme that responds to the digital and clinical transformation of the dental sector.

Available on campus (Madrid) and online, this one-year programme (60 ECTS) equips graduates in Dentistry to work across the three most sought-after and closely interconnected disciplines in today's clinical practice: orthodontics (fixed appliances and clear aligners), pre-prosthetic aesthetic rehabilitation, and the integration of disruptive technologies such as the digital workflow, advanced skeletal anchorage and dental lasers.

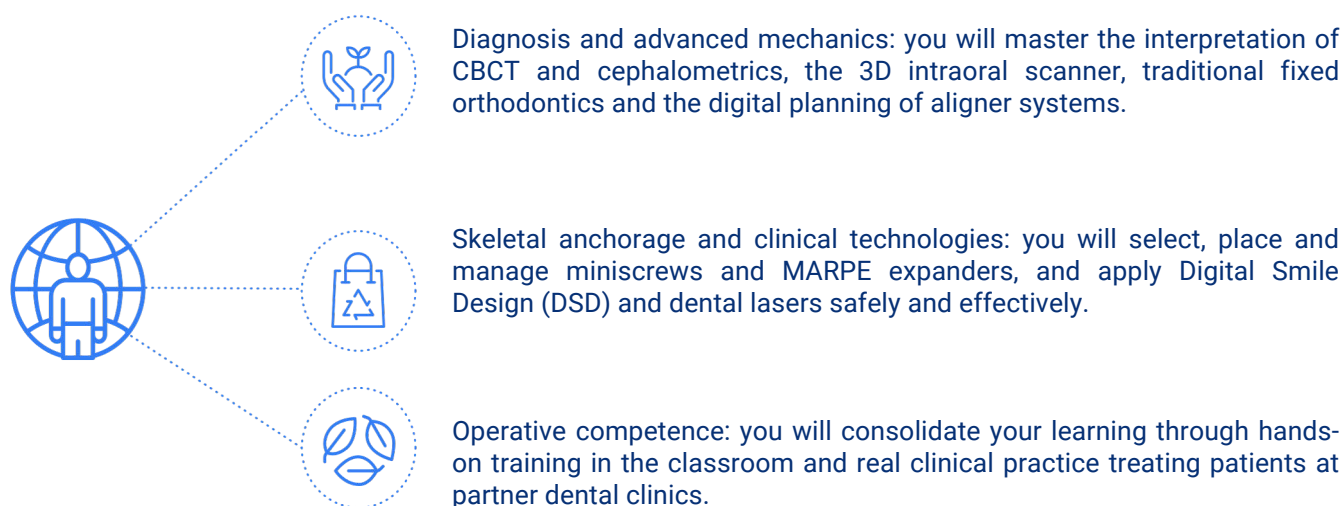

It combines scientific rigour with intensive hands-on training to develop specialists who can diagnose, plan and carry out advanced orthodontic treatment combined with aesthetic rehabilitation, delivering high-quality, technologically advanced, patient-centred care.

WHO IT IS FOR

Exclusively for graduates in Dentistry (Spanish or foreign degree, officially recognised in Spain or with recognition in progress) and medical specialists in Stomatology who wish to specialise in comprehensive orthodontic diagnosis and treatment, restorative aesthetic dentistry and the integration of digital technologies into the clinical workflow. Suitable both for those starting to specialise and for experienced clinicians looking to update their skills, with an ethical, sustainable and patient-centred approach.
